Program: Making Your Message Memorable: Presentations

Stand up, stand out and stand apart. Next to death, standing up and communicating in front of a group of people is the number one fear in America. All of that knowledge in your head is worthless if you can't communicate it clearly. This highly-popular session teaches you how to stand on your feet and make your message memorable. From formal speaking, project interviews and presentations to one-on-one conversations, this session is designed to make you and your team more dynamic communicators.

Attendees will leave the session with:

- Jaw-dropping techniques to reduce nervousness
- A revolutionary new approach to creating effective presentations
- Proven techniques to leave a positive, memorable impression on an audience
- Advice on how to speak from PowerPoint ... the correct way
- Four specific response techniques to answer any question from the audience
- A training plan to reduce those pesky "umms" and "ahhs"
- Tips on how to more effectively use hand and facial gestures to engage the audience
- Guidelines on formatting a speech script or speaker's notes
- New and more effective ways to present as a team
- And much, much more!

Presenter: Anthony Huey
